

A Hidden Estate Where Love Springs Eternal...

Cradled within 50 acres of breathtaking Herefordshire countryside, Pudleston Court is a magnificent 19th-century castellated mansion, where timeless romance meets secluded luxury. Set among sweeping lawns, whimsical lakes, and sculpted gardens, the estate offers an extraordinary backdrop for your most treasured day. Beneath the silhouette of mansion battlements, every sentiment feels profound, every moment elevated.

With seven exquisite accommodation properties, three indoor, heated swimming pools and an indulgent spa, Pudleston Court becomes your private world, shared only with those closest to your heart. Here, every wedding is more than a celebration; it is a story woven in elegance, remembered forever.

A Sacred Setting For a Lifetime of Love

Just a short stroll from the heart of the estate, St Peter's Church offers a truly enchanting setting for your wedding ceremony. A place where centuries of tradition meet the tender promise of your future. Built in the Norman and Early English styles, the 12th century church is a vision of timeless elegance, with sandstone walls, a stone-slate roof, and an oak-shingled spire rising above the trees in quiet grace. Inside, its lovingly preserved interiors offer a beautiful balance of reverence and romance, from the intricately carved Caen stone altarpiece to the majestic tones of the Grade II* listed William Hill organ, crafted in 1914 and still filling the space with joy and wonder. As sunlight pours through the Gothic Revival stained glass, soft hues illuminate the chancel and nave, creating a moment of pure stillness and beauty as you exchange your vows. Overhead, the sound of four ancient bells, each inscribed with a timeless blessing, rings out across the countryside, marking the beginning of your new chapter together. Whether you are planning an intimate gathering or a more traditional ceremony, St Peter's Church is a sacred and romantic sanctuary, a place not just to marry, but to make memories which will last forever.

An English Garden Stage for Your Grandest Moments

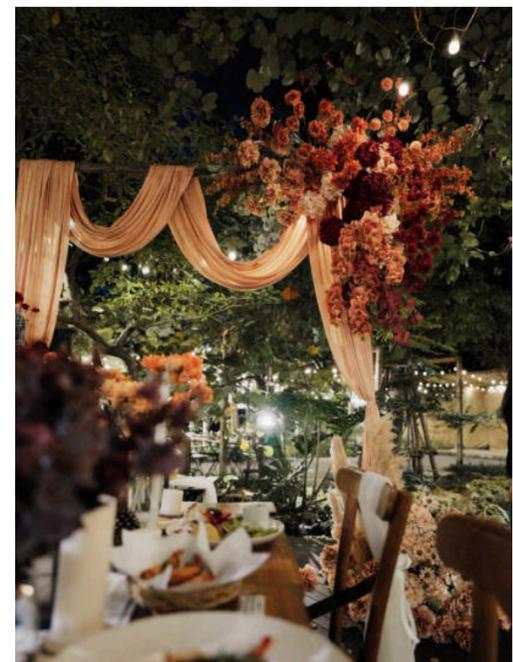

Whether it is a midsummer gathering beneath a canopy of stars or a quiet celebration wrapped in the scent of roses and birdsong, Pudleston Court, with St Peter's Church, offers the loveliest of English settings in which to say "I do." Our manicured lawn terraces, surrounded by ornamental gardens, floral borders and the gentle hush of ancient woodland are the perfect setting for marquee receptions of up to 150 guests, all beneath the watchful elegance of the 19th-century mansion. Here, love lingers in the air, and every celebration feels as if it were plucked from the pages of a classic English novel, refined, romantic, and wholly your own.
